HOW WE DO IT

Summit Collective is based in the community for all planned activities and programs.

We will use public venues, recreation centres, attractions and volunteer organizations providing a high energy and inclusive experience.

Summit Collective believes in experiencing the outdoors to learn skills, build confidence and appreciate the environment we are lucky to have in our backyard. Mountain trips and adventurous destinations outside of Calgary will be on the itinerary!

WELCOME!

Carolyn Long and Rhonda Stone met as business colleagues in 2015. As their professional relationship grew, a friendship began. They realized they shared similar values, ethics, and aspirations personally and professionally. In their respective professional roles, they were hearing repeatedly the need for more support services in Calgary that serve adults with disabilities. They began to imagine how they could provide community services that are individualized, driven by purposeful activities, and sprinkled with fun and adventure!

During the infamous pandemic of 2020 - 2022, this vision took root when like-minded friends became Co-Founders and Executive Directors of Summit Collective Community Services. Carolyn and Rhonda bring an immense and diverse amount of education, professional expertise and life experience making them a dynamic duo ready to provide individuals with disabilities connection to the community.

What makes Summit Collective unlike other organizations? We will ensure learning, growth and skill building using recreation, wellness, volunteerism, and outdoor pursuits as teaching tools to develop skills to be successful and gain experience. We want to get out in our beautiful city and province, experience the parks, landscapes, and mountains. Summit Collective wants to build confidence by busting through comfort zones, we want to challenge, while having fun of course!
